Description

I am using Strongswan Version 1.8.1 under Android Lineageos 14.1-20170213-NIGHTLY-crackling and it crashes each time I disconnect a VPN connection: it doesn't respond any longer until a timeout where I can hardly kill the app or send a crash report (which I have done several times so you should see the reports in your system)

With CM13.1 it has worked fine, the problem occurs until upgrade to Lineageos 14.1

Strange. Maybe triggered by a regression in their system. Did you contact them?

I see a couple of dumps for an ANR, which I assume are from you, but they are not conclusive. I do have a vague idea for a workaround, though. Since I can't reproduce the problem it's difficult to test though (if you like you could send me the email address of your Google Play account so I can setup a closed alpha test).

I have sent you a private mail with my google account name. I will try to reproduce the issue on a Motorola Moto G4 with Lineageos 14.1 the weekend. No, I didn't contact the lineageos team so far...

Fixed with version 1.8.2 of the app.
